JustResizeIt!+ 2.0, new version introduces drag & drop private picture sharing

Simplifying the distribution of pictures to one simple drag & drop lifts the barriers of private sharing.

Zurich, Switzerland – 11th July 2013 – Perspectives Software Solutions announced the release of JustResizeIt! + 2.0 based on the innovations of JustResizeIt!. By adding sending capabilities, pictures are automatically resized and sent to a group of email addresses or uploaded to an online gallery controlled by the user. Private sharing of pictures is simplified to a single drag & drop.

JustResizeIt! introduced back in 2009 one of the most simplest way to resize pictures. The user creates widgets that define how the images will be resized, drag and drops one or more images on a widget, waits a few seconds and drag and drops the resized images from the widget into an email, office document or a folder.

The new JustResizeIt!+ 2.0 release has sending features added to the resizing. With a single drag & drop, the pictures are automatically sent after resizing. The user can define where and how to send the pictures. Each widget can contain a list of email addresses. JustResizeIt!+ will automatically compose an email containing all the pictures and send it to all recipients. The user can also install an online gallery, set up a widget to upload resized pictures and fill the gallery just by drag and drop. Widgets can further collect the pictures in a local folder to be synchronized with a smartphone or a tablet.

The private sharing of pictures is reduced to a single drag & drop. Once widgets are created for every single purpose, sharing is just one drag and drop away. The user remains in control of his pictures. There is no sending or keeping them on foreign services with foreign terms of uses. Pictures of a lifetime can easily fit on a USB stick, smartphone and tablet when resized to Full HD resolution. The user can show or stream them at any time to a selected public.

JustResizeIt! (free) version, without the sending capabilities remains free of charge. JustResizeIt!+ is priced at US$ 9.90.
